

The River Dragon's Long Sleep

The blossom mountains of Yamato rise in soft green folds above terraced rice fields and little villages strung with paper lanterns, where cherry trees drop their petals on the wind and red torii gates mark the quiet shrines. Mist drifts among the bamboo, the moon lays a silver path on the river, and the hills are full of gentle spirits: a riddling fox, shy fireflies who light the lanterns, a jolly trickster tanuki, stone guardian dogs, and a great old river dragon who brings the rains. Here a hero is not the strongest or the loudest, but the one who is patient, thinks things through, and is kind to every living thing. The grandest deeds are done with imagination and courage and a gentle heart, and even a fearsome guardian, met with a calm and friendly word, often turns out kinder than it looks.

Picture 1

Two heroes thinking before a tall red torii gate guarded by two friendly stone lion-dogs with kind faces, blossom and moonlight around.

Picture 2

Two heroes crossing a gracefully arched wooden bridge over a wide river silver in the moonlight, stepping gently together.

Picture 3

Two heroes gently ringing a little bell beside a great gentle river dragon curled asleep among misty water, beginning to stir.

As the river dragon awakes and rises into a dawn sky as soft rain falls, the river brimming and green rice fields drinking, two heroes cheer.
